In order to automatically remove a long list of temporary files from the system, the free program TEMPFILE Cleaner can be used. There are five different cleaning modes that can be selected according to user preference:

- 5 general cleaning modes - deletes all traces of the application and desktop
- 1 specific cleaning mode - removes the application and is compatible with only one desktop
- 2 complicated cleaning modes - removes a long list of temporary files, but only for the current user (in Windows 8 this feature is not supported)
- 2 support modes for Windows XP and Windows 7 - removes a long list of temporary files, but only for the current user (in Windows 8 this feature is not supported)
- 1 support mode for Windows Vista - removes a long list of temporary files, but only for the current user (in Windows 8 this feature is not supported)

The program includes the following subfolders:

- C:\ProgramData\Temp - contains any temporary files
- C:\Users\%UserName%\AppData\Local\Temp - contains any temporary files
- C:\Users\%UserName%\AppData\Roaming\Microsoft\Windows\Temporary Internet Files - contains cookies, cache and logs for the Internet Explorer
- C:\Users\%UserName%\AppData\Roaming\Microsoft\Windows\Explorer\Recent - contains list of recent files opened by the user
- C:\Users\%UserName%\AppData\Roaming\Microsoft\Windows\Temporary Internet Cache Files - contains temporary files of the browser

The last two folders and the
