I am trying to use midi.play note on my midi controller. A: They are the size of the MIDI port. The MIDI standard (which Wikipedia says is pretty old) says that it should be either 9600 8N or 9600 4N. Some vendors have been setting the MIDI port to be MIDI channel 16. I don't recall hearing the term MIDI channel 10 before. If you are using a MIDI device that connects to MIDI channel 16, then you should only be able to use a MIDI device that does not support at least MIDI channel 10 (and therefore a minimum of 6 channels). There are consumer level MIDI devices that only allow for 2 or 4 channels. However, if you are talking about MIDI channel 10 and MIDI channel 16, then the first 8 channels (and C1

Give US Radio Player Home a try! Author: Alex Laban Email: gomad_ox@yahoo.com Website: it comes to prescription drug pricing, some pharmaceutical companies are looking for a painless solution. This week, for example, the University of California at Los Angeles announced it would work with GlaxoSmithKline on a $50-million program to study how to lower the cost of drugs used for chronic illnesses, such as diabetes and rheumatoid arthritis. "The pharmaceutical industry needs to get smarter about drugs to address the costs and incentives that keep doctors from prescribing them," says M. Kent Brown, a professor of economics at UCLA and co-author of the paper that summarizes the research. Story continues below advertisement Despite the industry's findings that higher prices help pay for expensive research and development, and can encourage patients to take medicines for more serious diseases, Mr. Brown says the university's goal is to find the potential for cheaper prescriptions based on a much simpler concept:

prescribing diseases only once. "A lot of the complexity has been introduced to medicine through the patent system," he said. "The goal here is to try and remove the complexity in the hopes of a simpler system." Bigger pharmaceutical companies may not agree that much simplification is needed. Big companies' businesses depend on patents and other protections, which pay for their expensive research and development. In Canada, for example, royalties and other forms of income accounted for $42-billion ($46.6-billion US) of the $57-billion in worldwide sales of prescription drugs last year, according to data from the pharmaceutical industry's own industry-funded Global Industry Analysts Inc., or GIPS, which
