Adobe's Design Suite primarily offers two things, and we're going to talk about those two things in detail, the first one being the online website creation and the second one being the web hosting. You can create your own website in just moments through the use of the program's web page creation tools, and create a host of different templates for your site, including corporate, restaurant, hotel, and even mobile versions. All the templates are responsive meaning that they automatically resize themselves to the screen size it is being viewed from when the site is loaded up. You can easily bring your content to the light by uploading a picture or a video directly from your computer. The website creation program lets you customize all the elements of your website effectively, such as the layout, the fonts, and the color scheme. It's probably safe to say that most of the website are not responsive, meaning that they just don't look good when they are viewed on a mobile device. The responsive website creator is a great solution for these clients, and the program allows you to include and optimize elements of a page for any device size screen. So, you don't need to do a lot of rework when you're ready to view your site on your smartphone, tablet, or even a desktop monitor. Adobe's good-quality website design suite is an excellent tool that is aided by the Adobe Sensei. The Adobe Sensei is a machine learning tool that is powered by the AI services (Artificial Intelligence) and helps you create amazing designs, finishing off the project in seconds. You might and have noticed that the user interface is easy, and some of the tools even behave like you, making the task much easier with the use of the AI.
